Enfocus Productions Wins National Aegis Award

St. Louis, MO -- A distinguished panel of judges, comprised of industry professionals from across the country, has recognized Enfocus Productions' effort with a 2005 Aegis Award in the "Wedding" category. The Aegis Awards are the video industry's premiere competition for peer recognition of outstanding video programs and non-network television commercials.

This award represents the top-level production quality, editing, and artistry shown in the 9 minute Michael & Emily Highlight Reel. Enfocus Productions creates "Highlight Reels" as a summary version of the highlights taken from the client's longer wedding video. Enfocus offers this service to clients who desire a more concise, music-video style presentation to share their memories.

Founded in 2001, Enfocus Productions continually strives to bring the latest technology, artistry, and client services together, to deliver high quality productions. The Saint Louis-based company has become an industry leader in wedding videography and has earned other national recognition, including Telly, Communicator, and Aurora awards for various film and video productions.

The award-winning Michael & Emily Highlight Reel can be viewed on the Enfocus website, at www.enfocuspro.com/events_page.htm.
